Details on Favors Demanded

Senators Ask Full Account by Adams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican Senators demanded today that Sherman Adams, top presidential aide, give a full explanation of expensive favors he received from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

The demands came from Sens. Barry Goldwater (Ariz) and Charles R. Potter (Mich) who suggested Adams should leave the White House unless he offers a complete accounting.

At the same time a Democratic senator, Joseph S. Clark (Pa) told the Senate that Adams "acted in extremely bad taste."

White House Silent

The White House kept silent in the face of the congressional criticism.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty declined to discuss Potter's assertion that Adams "has lost his usefulness to the administration" unless he can explain more fully.

Hagerty replied "no comment" to repeated inquiries by reporters. He referred them to his statement Friday that the issue was one whether Goldfine received favored treatment from government agencies as a result of gifts to Adams.

Both Adams and Hagerty have denied that Goldfine got any preferred treatment in dealings with government agencies.

Adams Unavailable

Adams has been unavailable to newsmen for questioning about the reports that he received a $700 vicuna coat and a $2,400 oriental rug as gifts from Goldfine and that Goldfine picked up the tab for Adams on more than $2,000 in hotel bills at Boston and Plymouth, Mass.

In a letter to chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of a House subcommittee which produced evidence of the payment of the hotel bills, Adams acknowledged he had been a hotel guest of Goldfine whom he described as an old friend. He said he used hotel rooms which he thought Goldfine kept on a permanent basis.

The letter made no mention of the reported gifts of a coat and rug.

Meanwhile, Goldfine was involved in two other developments:

1. The New York Herald Tribune reported Goldfine was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department, which it said has subpoenaed certain books and records of the New England millionaire. A spokesman for the Justice Department declined to comment on the report.

2. Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Maine) said he received a vicuna coat from Goldfine some time ago. He described Goldfine as a "long and close friend" who had never asked any favors. Payne said his family had exchanged gifts with the Goldfines at Christmas time.

Although saying he had contacted two federal regulator agencies on cases involving Goldfine, Adams said insinuations that he had sought or obtained favored treatment for his friend were unwarranted and unfair.

Hagerty, who said Adams had knocked the favored treatment allegations "into a cocked hat,"

United Airline Pilot Reports Near-Collision

DENVER (AP)—The pilot of a United Air Lines DC6 airliner with 53 persons aboard said his plane narrowly missed a collision with three unidentified jet aircraft over the Rocky Mountains late Friday.

Capt. J. C. Moody of Denver said he took evasive action to avoid a possible collision shortly after taking off from Salt Lake City. He said the three jets passed under his four-engine airliner. He did not indicate by what margin he escaped a possible collision.

A UAL spokesman said a report of the incident will be made to the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Soviet Okay For Nuclear Parley Given

Agree to Eisenhower Proposal for July 1 Geneva Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to begin exploratory scientific talks in Geneva July 1 on ways to police any worldwide ban of nuclear explosions.

The Russian agreement came Friday in answer to proposals made Tuesday by President Eisenhower. Eisenhower's message avoided a flat U.S. commitment to stop testing atomic and hydrogen bombs. The West has insisted that technical talks on inspection must come first.

Challenges West

Russia announced in April that she was suspending nuclear tests and challenged the West to follow her lead. The Russians have consistently rejected the idea of inspection and control and have claimed the tests could be stopped by a simple declaration from the atomic powers, currently Russia, the United States and Britain, with France believed coming up fast.

The Russian note said the technical talks should be concluded in three or four weeks and plugged the Soviet position by saying the Geneva meeting should lead to a quick suspension of all tests.

Makes Repeated Appeals

The West has made repeated appeals to Russia to discuss nuclear controls. Last month the 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization invited Russia to join in technical talks and said they would go ahead with their own disarmament studies even if she refused.

Eisenhower proposed that scientific experts from the United States, Britain and France sit in on the talks for "our side" while the Communists could send scientists from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Russia agreed to this.

The Russians said they would be willing to have members of the U.N. secretariat help out "in a technical capacity."

U.S. Contacts Red Germans On Releasing 9

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany said today a U. S. army colonel had paid an official call at its Foreign Ministry to seek the release of nine U. S. Army prisoners.

The official East German news agency ADN said the call—first direct contact between the East German regime and the United States—was made by Col. Robert P. McQuail, accompanied by a major.

ADN said East Germany's deputy Foreign Minister Otto Winzer had told McQuail that his government was ready to settle the affair quickly if McQuail was fully competent to negotiate.

Winzer insisted that McQuail show that he had been fully authorized by the U. S. government to take up this international matter.

Another meeting between McQuail and the East German official was arranged for next Monday, ADN said.

The ADN announcement indicated that the way is open for the quick release of the nine Americans whose helicopter was lost in a thunderstorm and strayed across the Iron Curtain a week ago.

Rebels in Showdown With Government

Sharpest Clash of 36-Day Revolt Erupts in Lebanon

DELAWARE'S SESQUICENTENNIAL caravan rolled into Marion this morning on a four-county promotion tour to give residents here a preview of the 150-year anniversary celebration to be held in Delaware from June 27 through July 4.

RIGHT: George Brey of near Delaware, dressed as a Keystone Cop, is one of many "Brothers of the Brush" who sprouted beards for the celebration. Proving the authenticity of Mr. Brey's beard with a playful tug is Kathy Rowlands, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowlands of Holiday Hill near Delaware. Both Mrs. Rowlands and Kathy also donned colorful outfits for the caravan tour. The caravan was to pass through a number of area communities this afternoon on its return trip.

Battles Rage In 3 Sections Inside Beirut

Outbreak Appears as Major Insurgent Bid To Topple Chamoun

BEIRUT (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted today inside Beirut. It looked like a showdown battle between government and rebel forces.

It was by far the worst battle in the capital since the rebellion began in Lebanon 36 days ago.

At least three big battles were being fought between security forces and insurgents who are trying to overthrow the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun.

AP Office in Middle

One of the battles was raging around The Associated Press office in the Zerif district on the edge of a Moslem quarter. The fighters were blasting away with pistols, rifles, machineguns and mortars.

The most intensive firing occurred in the area between The Associated Press office and the Presidential Palace, about 300 yards away.

Another big battle was being fought about 300 yards in the opposite direction, in the Moslem quarter of Basta, the barricaded sector used as rebel headquarters.

The third battle was raging on the city's outskirts for Ramel Prison.

Details Not Clear

It was not immediately known which side had launched the first attack.

But, with U.N. observers moving into Lebanon, it could be a desperate insurgent attempt to bring down the government.

It also could be a government offensive to wipe out insurgents holed up in the Basta district. The government outlawed the three rebel political parties Friday.

Hunt Pressed For Escapees From Prison

Traced to Bucyrus; May Be Linked With Jewelry Theft There

The three Marion Correctional Institution inmates who escaped the prison early Friday morning are still at large today.

Local law entorcement officials expressed the belief this morning that they may have headed for Toledo or Cleveland after stopping off in Bucyrus.

The escapees were identified as Duane E. Gulley, 21, serving a burglary sentence of 1-20 years from Hamilton County; Herman E. Williams, 31, sentenced from Washington County, and James R. Murphy, 25, sentenced from Lorain County, both on armed robbery charges. The latter were serving 10-25 year sentences.

The first clue to their whereabouts came about 9:30 a.m. Friday when one of the escapee's regulation dungarees was found discarded in Bucyrus and a license plate was reported stolen from a truck there.

Meanwhile, Bucyrus police were investigating the theft of $883.20 worth of jewelry from Ley's Jewelry Store on N. Sandusky Ave. there. Officers expressed the belief that the three men might have staged the break-in to gain valuable items which could be pawned for money.

Crash Lands Plane

Serviceman Picked Up After Flight To See Girl

DALLAS (AP)—Airman Donald Keeton, picked up here today after a mysterious flight from Mississippi in a light plane, said "I just wanted to see my girl. It was kind of a crazy idea."

But his flight, which he said included evasive tactics when pursued by fighter planes and a crash landing in a swampy field, was in vain.

"I'll still date him," his girl friend said, but she asserted she felt she was still too young to marry.

She rushed into his arms at the police station and Keeton flushed and embraced her. They talked in low tones for a minute or two before she faced newsmen.

"He just walked into my room, woke me up and said, "Hi, Mom," his mother said. "My faith was never shaken. I'm so relieved."

Picked Up at Home

The 19-year-old airman, who left a suicide note before going aloft in a rented plane Thursday morning at Gulfport, Miss., was picked up at his mother's home.

"I landed the plane in a swampy field near Tyler (Tex.). There's not a scratch on it," he said. He said he had expected to make it to Dallas, but had run out of gas because of low altitude flying and evasive action.

"I didn't have any particular way to get up here," he said. "I was unable to get leave. I wanted to see my girl, it was kind of a crazy idea."

"I didn't think it would do any good to talk to her by phone, I needed to see her," he said.

Before the girl came to the station he said "the police tell me here I'll be able to see her and if I do it will be worth it for just an AWOL. I still haven't given up hope of winning her back," he said.

Girl Object of Flight

The object of the flight, which set off a search over two states, is pretty Doris Bowling, 17, of Dallas, his childhood sweetheart. Earlier, she said "I fell terrible" for having twice consented to marry Keeton and then changing her mind in the belief she was too young.

The airman said some people gave him a ride into Tyler and he took a bus into Dallas, arriving shortly before midnight.

Mrs. L. C. Cantrell, police dispatcher, said officers picked him up when they made a routine check at his home to see whether his mother had heard anything. An intensive search was to have resumed today.

Keeton made a brief stop at Alexandria, La., and later was sighted over Shreveport, La. He said he heard on his radio he was being tracked by Barksdale Air Force Base radar.

Pursued by Jets

He told The Associated Press he was pursued for a time by three F100 jet fighters, but he evaded them by flying low up the Red River bed.

The wiry young airman, who appeared well-composed until his girl friend appeared at the station, said he left the suicide note as a ruse to gain extra time after leaving Gulfport. He said he felt the search would be directed out over the gulf in the expectation he had plunged his plane into the sea.

Cooks Denies Attack on Two, Faces Lie Test

Suspect in Criminal Assault Says He Was In House of a Victim

A lie detector test was slated in Columbus today for Fred Cooks, 37, the Columbus man charged with criminally assaulting two Delaware County women Wednesday morning.

H. Lloyd Jones, assistant Delaware County prosecutor, said this morning that Cooks was being returned to Columbus for the test and probably will not be arraigned on the assault charges in Delaware Municipal Court until Monday.

Ever since his arrest in Columbus at 9:45 p.m. Thursday by two off-duty policemen, Cooks has denied he attacked the 24-year-old mother and an 18-year-old babysitter at the older woman's residence just south of the Delaware Dam at about 8 a.m. Wednesday.

The attack on the two women resulted in one of the largest manhunts in the history of Delaware County Wednesday and Thursday.

While Cooks denies he attacked the two women, Delaware County Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said he has admitted being in the house on Delaware County Rd. 213.

A truck registered in his name was found abandoned on Rt. 23 near the house and a man's wallet containing papers with Cooks' name on them was found in the

Bids Received On City's Pool

Fall Within Estimates Of Cost of Renovation

Renovation of the Lincoln Park pool apparently was assured by bids received today by the City Park Board in a bid opening at the safety-service director's office in City Hall.

Robert Kelly, chairman of the park board, said that a rough tally of the bids indicated that total cost of the renovation work will be less than $60,000.

City Council previously provided a total of $65,000 for the project. In addition to the construction work, architect's fees must be paid from the available funds.

Ten bids for construction of poured concrete walls and one for steel walls were received before the closing deadline at noon today. There also were seven bids for the electrical subcontracting and seven for the plumbing subcontracting.

4 Playgrounds To Be Used

Program of Recreation Will Start Here Monday

The summer recreation program for Marion youngsters will begin Monday and will be in operation each week through Aug. 15, Paul O'Rourke, director of the summer playground activities, announced today.

Supervised play will be conducted Monday through Friday each week from 9-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. at Lincoln Park and the George Washington, Glenwood and Silver St. school playgrounds.

As in years past, children may engage in the activities scheduled at the four sites free of charge.

In addition to play in the park and at the three schools, tennis will be taught at the Harding High School courts, with the course of instruction designed for both beginners and advanced players. In charge of the free instruction will be Mr. O'Rourke. It is to begin June 17. Classes will be taught from 9 a.m. until noon four days each week, Monday through Thursday.

Upper Man Held

Former Guard Charged With Helping in Escape

A Marion Correctional Institution guard who just this week resigned his post is in county jail today, charged with aiding and abetting a prison escape.

The former guard, Elmore S. Clark, 42, of Upper Sandusky, was taken into custody in Toledo Friday about 5 p.m. by a plain clothes officer from district state patrol headquarters at Bucyrus.

He was returned here on warrants signed by Lamoyne Green, superintendent of the institution. The arresting officer was Cpl. Paul E. Wolf, Bucyrus patrolmen reported.

Clark is charged with aiding and abetting an escape, conveying contraband articles into the institution and clothing and harboring a felon. He resigned from his guard job Monday.

The warrants were signed in connection with the escape of Robert W. Strother, 35, of Toledo, who walked away from a work gang May 16. He was captured the same night by deputies of the Lucas County sheriff's office in Toledo.

Strother was serving a 1-5 year term on a charge of possession of burglary tools.

Following his capture, an extensive investigation of the escape was made by Mr. Green and Maury Koblentz, director of the Ohio Division of Correction, assisted by highway patrol officers and Marion County officials.

Mr. Koblentz said authorities had information that Clark had picked up Strother outside the institution, took him to Toledo and made arrangements for him to stay in a motel there.

Five others in the household escaped through windows and over a porch roof. The crackling flames beat back efforts of a frantic mother to re-enter the two story home and rescue her son.

Junta Leader Meets Premier

De Gaulle and Soustelle Discuss Algerian Crisis

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle today called in Jacques Soustelle, political power behind the insurgent junta in Algiers, to advise the cabinet on ways to restore peace to Algeria.

If De Gaulle dressed down his old legislative supporter for the junta's brief show of defiance early this week, as was widely predicted, there was no official disclosure. Apparently the junta's pledge of support to De Gaulle Friday night cleared the air.

Confers for 90 Minutes

The two conferred for 90 minutes in De Gaulle's private office. Aides to De Gaulle said they had exchanged views on Algeria. De Gaulle asked Soustelle to give Cabinet ministers his ideas on a settlement of the 3½-year-old Arab-Berber rebellion.

Soustelle told reporters the Premier had requested him to see members of the government and "expose to them that which I have been able to learn personally in North Africa."

Will See De Gaulle Again

Asked if he would enter De Gaulle's government, Soustelle replied curtly: "That's another thing." His supporters on the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety have been demanding a Cabinet post for him. They showed their dissatisfaction Tuesday by approving a motion demanding a political house cleaning in Paris, drawing a reprimand from De Gaulle.

Soustelle said he will see De Gaulle again. He will stay in Paris a few more days instead of returning immediately to Algiers, as he had planned. De Gaulle summoned him from Algiers Wednes-

Religion at Work

By EUGENE CARR

Father's Day in May

He was waiting for me on the front porch.

How long he had been sitting there, patiently waiting, watching for a car to come off the main highway a block away, I don't know. Two hours. . . three hours, perhaps. Hours have a way of racing by as the years mount upward.

It was an unusually warm spring day, so he had enjoyed sitting there in the protecting shade of the porch. One thing is sure—he had not done any reminiscing. He isn't given to reminiscing, even at 87.

Whatever his thoughts, they were for the day at hand, the evening ahead and the morrow. He may have done a little napping, but no dreaming.

WHEN HE SAW my car stop in front of the house, he sat forward a bit in his chair until he was sure, then stood at the porch rail to greet me.

It had been almost a year since we had had a visit, just the two of us alone, and there was a great deal to talk about. Not personal or family matters, but business conditions, farming, government affairs, and politics.

And there was his flower garden; it was doing real well, with the warm spring days and rains.

It wasn't long until we were in the car driving through the nearby countryside to see the rich farmlands under cultivation, inspect the new township school, and, finally, park in front of the post office where we were to see many old friends.

Our tour of the flower garden was delayed until early evening. That's the time really to enjoy a garden, he said. . . at sundown, when the flowers respond to the freshness of approaching night.

THERE WERE many varieties, all coming along nicely in turn, but his favorites were an ever-blooming rose and an Oriental poppy.

No matter where we turned our attention, always we came back to the ever-blooming rose and Oriental poppy. Some gardens have one or the other; not many have both.

Next morning we went to church. . . to the same church that had nurtured his faith as a young man. . . the same church that had solemnized his marriage, baptized his children, strengthened him through loss and disappointment, and buried his dead. It was a sacred moment.

Our parting was as casual as though we would see one another every day in the days to come. There were no regrets, no complaints, no wants, no frustrations. There was no bitterness, no suspicion, no selfishness, no fear.

"What could I possibly want that I do not have?" he asked. "Why, just think of my garden and that ever-blooming rose and Oriental poppy! Did you ever see anything so fine?"

It was a wonderful "Father's Day," that weekend back there in mid-May.

Treasures of Wisdom

A Sermonette

By REV. F. E. KLINE
Pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church

"That they may know the mystery of God, even Christ, in whom are all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge hidden." Colossians 2:2,3.

Christ is the full and complete and full revelation of the riches of life. Others have, in part, disclosed truth and knowledge and wisdom. Philosophers and poets, and great men from various parts of life, have unfolded much that enriches life for all of us. But whether is be Socrates, or Gautama the Buddha, or Moses, or David, or Mohammed, or Caesar, or Luther we stand before the mystery of Christ with head bowed and soul inspired; for in him, as St. Paul says, are all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

So fully has this been manifested that it is only necessary to look at his life and teachings to see the fulness and power and beauty in him. From his youth Jesus was enrapt in the will and love of God. "My Father's business" was his absorbing concern, and his unfolding life was a constant manifestation of reverence, consecration, obedience, sacrifice, and triumph in the will of the Heavenly Father.

In the temple at the age of 12, he found the company of the teachers and doctors and entered into the interpretation of the law of God.. He stood in the midst of them in the greatest of reverence and disclosed a knowledge and devotion that amazed all about him. His growing understanding of life found expression in profound respect for God and men. He loved and respected his parents, his friends, and his neighbors. His "reverence" or "fear" of God inspired and thrilled every moment and part of his life. And thus "He increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men."

HERE LIES the secret for everyone: reverence for God. As we stand before the mysteries of life with a like respect and devotion, wisdom and knowledge fill our hearts and understanding. God has ordained it to be so.

When Jesus came to the time that God would send him forth to be the saviour of the world, he entered into that complete consecration of his heart and soul to the will of God that withstood all the temptations of Satan. So deeply had he conceived the will and purpose of God that no device or enticement of the devil could swerve him. He came from those 40 days in the wilderness completely fixed and panoplied to do only what his Father would have him do. He needed to be strengthened for the work ahead of him: and indeed "He returned in the power of the spirit" to begin the ministry of the redemption of men.

And just this kind of consecration is possible for each one of us. Whatever God's will, with deep reverence in our hearts, we likewise will choose only and completely the divine will. We, too, will resist Satan. With our shield of faith we too shall quench all the fiery darts of the evil one.

IN TURN, Jesus obeyed the whole will of God. At every turn along the course of his ministry, he sought and did the will of God: teaching, healing, feeding the multitudes, raising the dead, forgiving the sinful; suffering humiliation and contradiction, rejection, scorning, denial, betrayal, the scourging and brutal treatment of the soldiers, and finally the cruel death of the cross. Through it all he pressed on to the fullest and most complete obedience to whatever the divine will made plain. As saviour of men, he reached down to the lowest and most sinful; he took upon himself the sorrows of every man; he bore the sins of all. At last he could truly say, "It is finished."

The treasures of wisdom in Christ are open to us. Like him we, too, must and can obey all of the will of God. Nothing less will do, for nothing else is worth doing. That is the fruitage God seeks in our lives.

Sacrifice is the supreme expression of faith in God. Whatever the cost to us of ease, or wealth, or strength, or time, or love—it is all part of the supreme wisdom manifest in Jesus Christ. Inspired by His examples and his command, we find in our participation wholly in God's will, a cross. Only so can anyone truly follow Jesus' way out of sin and death into love and life. That is at once the sad and the beautiful aspect of life as we find it now in this wicked world—"no cross," "no crown"!

The path of Jesus finally, therefore, brings us to the glorious day of triumph!

"Up from the grave he arose; with a mighty triumph o'er his foes." Satan's power and triumph were broken. It was God's will that Jesus should die; and it was God's will that Jesus should rise again. His sacrifice for us, for the whole world, was the supreme culmination of the love of God. Then that love must culminate in resurrection glory! And likewise, If we suffer with him, we shall reign with him! That is the very purpose and end of it all—that Jesus shall bring the redeemed with him into a glorious kingdom of life and peace and joy and love for ever and ever!

The treasures of wisdom and knowledge are thus hidden in Christ. Look at him. Let his life fill you likewise with reverence. consecration, obedience, sacrifice, and triumph.

"May the Lord bless you and keep you. The Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. The Lord lift up His countenance upon you and give you peace"!

Cleveland, Akron Differ on Routing Of Freeway Link

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland and Akron, long in agreement on northern Ohio's new highway needs, are split today.

Representatives of both cities ended a year-long accord Friday when they disagreed over the routing of a section of the North-South Freeway. The split came at a meeting in Gov. C. William O'Neill's office.

Under an earlier pact, the two cities agreed on a proposed change in the location of U.S. 20 westward to the vicinity of Elyria; the extension of Ohio 17, known as Brookpark Road, southwestward to the Ohio Turnpike, and a Cleveland bypass for the North-South Freeway in the vicinity of Ohio 82.

The two cities split when Cleveland interests proposed to extend the North-South Freeway from Medina due north to near the Cleveland Airport, instead of the Ohio 82 bypass.

Akron followed by advocating a diagonal bypass from near Medina to the south end of Cleveland's Outer Belt to the east.

O'Neill and state highway officials are studying the issue.

Enrollment To Hit New High at 1958 Boys State Camp

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP) — Their party loyalties decided by a flip of the coin, the citizens of Buckeye Boys' State today plunged into the realm of politics.

At city caucuses, delegates to the two party conventions were selected and the conventions immediately were called into session to write platforms.

It was announced by R. B. Tharp, American Legion member in charge of elections and a Columbus resident, that all boys with odd-numbered registration cards are Federalists and those with the even numbers are Nationalists.

President E. J. Sklenicka of the Boys State Board of Trustees announced that this year's population probably will hit 1,025 for another new record. Last year's population was 1,014, a record.

Gunman Gets $3,000

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A calm, stockily built robber walked into the Highland Heights branch of the Bank of Alexandria Friday and departed with approximately $3,000 in bills and a paper sack full of coins. Police in Kentucky and Ohio set up road blocks but so far have not captured the lone gunman who escaped in a stolen auto.

10 Barbershop Groups In Finals at Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ten barbershop quartets will vie tonight for the international championship of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop quartet singing in America. No Ohio quartets are represented.

The 10, including one quartet from Canada, are survivors of 40 which entered the competition Thursday. The field was first cu to 20, then the 10 emerged victorious in Friday night's competition.

Congress Does Not Dare To Let Go

Congressmen, with few exceptions, would like to get off the spot they have been put on by resentment of foreign-aid spending.

They know they are doing themselves no good politically by supporting the Eisenhower administration's foreign-aid policy, which previously was the Truman administration's policy and before that was the Roosevelt administration's policy.

Why, then, do they continue to support a foreign-aid program? Why do they blast it when they talk off the record but vote for it on the record?

If they dared to be candid, the representatives and senators who have just voted upward of four billion dollars in new foreign aid authorizations and eventually will appropriate most of what the administration will ask for would say something like this:

"We know most of the voters back home are sour about foreign aid. They think it has turned into a bad bargain, because they cannot see how it is winning converts to the American way of thinking. Some of them think — and some of us think so too — that foreign aid has become a kind of blackmail the United States must pay, or else. Voters say they would call the blackmailers' bluff and save the money.

"We know it wouldn't be that easy, though. We do not dare to let go of what we have held on to so long, not only because the pesky Russians, who now have a foreign aid program of their own, would move in when we moved out but because the annual appropriation for foreign aid has turned into an enormous government subsidy to the export business of the United States. It is not generally realized that we do not give foreign-aid beneficiaries money; we mostly give them things that have been bought in this country with foreign aid appropriations. If we were to abandon that policy suddenly, George Humphrey would see the "hair-curling" depression he once talked about, instead of the "hair-waving" recession that was started a year ago when our Department of Defense began to cut back its military spending in order to stay inside its budget.

"We think our constituents would do what we are doing if they had to vote. All they have to do is talk. Talk is cheap. Ask us. We know. Not a single member of Congress, including those who blast off bitterly against foreign aid, would sleep well if the policy were discontinued."

Nothing Ever Stands in the Way

If the time has come for Nikita Khrushchev to get rid of his old friend Suslov, who has stuck with him through thick and thin, nothing will stand in the way.

If the time had come for Suslov to get rid of his old friend Khrushchev, he would have been just as ruthless. If the two of them thought the time had come to get rid of Mikoyan, he would have had to go.

Nothing ever stands in the way of a high-policy decision in the Kremlin, except the possibility of resistance by an opposition that will be destroyed if it fails. As a means of generating and using political power, nothing like the Communist party in Russia has been seen before.

It is even stronger than absolute monarchy in the old days, because it has proved it can survive and prosper after the death of its despot.

But even though its strength now is better understood than it used to be, Americans have not understood the challenge to their own system of politics.

Unless they can match Russia's ability to make and carry out decisions quickly and firmly and do it within the framework of deliberative government, Americans will never get rid of the handicap of indecisiveness that is thwarting their desire to put the Kremlin on the defensive.

This does not mean the United States would have to turn into a despotism to match the despotism of the Kremlin. But it could very well mean that Americans would have to refrain from making issues for the sake of making issues.

Specifically, it could mean that two characteristics of the American people might become too expensive and risky to indulge: (1) The tendency to become hysterically divided over trifles and (2) the tendency to oppose for the sake of preserving the two-party system.

Nothing ever stands in the way of a high-policy decision in the Kremlin, whether the decision is good or bad. In the United States, even a good decision cannot be made until it has been opposed to the bitter end, often for no better reason than political obstructionism.

When the United States is trying to match the decisiveness of a system of politics that can eat its own young with the same brisk dispatch it shows when destroying other governments, it will have to learn to repress its tendency to make an issue of everything.

60-Minute Men Needed

A young man described as a "space expert," 38-year-old Col. William O. Davis of the U.S. Air Force, has resigned his commission in a huff over feet-dragging by senior scientists.

A "senior scientist," it must be explained is a kind of "space expert" who has earned a reputation for having his feet on the ground. This is a condition that lends itself easily to the impression the seniors are dragging their feet, particularly as viewed by their juniors.

It could become one of the toughest problems of the space era, which is what we are supposedly entering, provided the Soviet Union doesn't slam the door after it. The same young expert had detected the problem elsewhere in the Defense Department, though in another form, before throwing in his colonelship.

Management experts, he complained, have been brought in from the outside to run military research along approved lines and all they do is block progress because they understand nothing but management. They are as hard to bear as scientists who understand nothing but science.

Experts seem to turn into specialists in knowing what cannot be done, and as their knowledge accumulates they reach the point where nothing can be done, unless all their strict requirements for proper procedure have been met first. They become like the "educationists" who are all method and no imagination. They deserve their own titles: "managists" and "scientifists."

What Col. Davis thinks the space age needs is 60-minute men, as they say in football, not specialists, though he himself already has become an "expert" in space at the unripe young age of 38.

Welcome News

The recent announcement that the contract had been let for improving the streets around Harding High School may not exactly come under the heading of earth-shattering news, but it was most welcome to a strong segment of Marion's population.

Anyone who resides in the vicinity of Mandana and Seminole avenues or drives to the high school with any regularity has been perturbed by the situation for a long time.

The effort to do something about those streets has been under way ever since the new school was opened in the fall of 1953. If the project is completed, as indicated, before school reconvenes in September it will have taken exactly five years to achieve success.

The condition of Mandana and Seminole avenues has ranged from fair to terrible in that period. This spring, Mandana, particularly, has seemed somewhat worse than usual.

In addition to involving the approaches to the high school, the streets in question are part of one of the more heavily-traveled crosstown routes.

It will be a tremendous relief to have this relatively minor, but exasperating, community problem corrected.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A check for the past 58 years, through all slumps and recoveries, shows that the thing to watch is the female leg instead of the car-loadings, market quotations, etc., says a woman's garment manufacturer. When business is bad skirts drop and waistlines tighten. In prosperity it's the reverse.

Current leg visibility indicates prosperity is ahead. With knees as an index, it may be time to keep a careful eye on them.

Garment tycoon doesn't say why this is so. Our guess is that in hard times a woman knows men are watching bills not contours. And she is too busy sharing the worries to think about sharing the glamor. The ankle and calf are a short sale.

BUT WHEN THE TIDE turns the gals stage a sharp rise in glamor. Eye appeal breaks out of the doldrums and forges ahead. A woman knows that when the depression ends the male reactions return to normal. Once the female knee situation is encouraging, his confidence is restored. The shape of milady can eclipse the shape of economy. Market letter may soon read:

"While the economic situation is still somewhat clouded, improvement is forecast by the trend in women's clothing. Hemlines went up last week. So did securities. There was a technical reaction in which skirt lengths revealed weakness but we believe there is inherent strength in anatomical picture.

Waists have loosened in most areas of the country, although tightness is still reported in Midwest. A large investment house bought stocks heavily recently on the strength of the general business of waistlines and the sudden improvement in the leg situation.

Hemlines in some of our most influential circles have risen swiftly during the late spring and operators who know a reliable index when they see it have taken strong positions on the buying side.

While we hold the situation will bear close watching and do not advise clients to place complete reliance on female legs as a guide to the nation's business future, we would urge a more optimistic outlook on the part of investors.

"WASHINGTON HAS taken no position in the matter, but may be expected to encourage higher hemlines. It is considering appointment of a commission to study the matter. At his press conference President Eisenhower was asked, 'Do you think that, with woman in the bag, you can say that the same is true of prosperity?' He said the next quarter would tell."

Power of Faith

By Howard Brodie

JORDAN RIVER—John the Baptist was, as the gospels relate, the voice of one crying in the wilderness: "prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight His path." For several months, John had been preaching throughout Judea and proclaiming the coming of one "the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and loose."

But one day, while John was baptising in the river Jordan, that one came and asked to be baptised. In a tremendous affirmation of faith, Jesus stood in the water and was baptised by John, an incident that caused the heavens to open and the Spirit to descend like a dove.

That same spirit of Christian zeal and piety still lives in the setting where John baptized Jesus. Because the waters are deep and dangerous, only baptismal boats are used. The Catholics use a small rowboat. The Greek Orthodox Church shares with the Protestants a large boat donated by the Greek Navy.

Key to World Peace

By David Lawrence

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain has just stated the biggest single truth that can make the difference between world peace and another world war. He puts his emphasis on the word "trust" and declares it cannot be achieved between the West and the East until the Soviet government abandons its censorship of communications.

Lawrence

The prime minister didn't specifically say so but his remarks at the National Press Club here could apply to the untruthful statement made over a nationwide television network last Sunday by Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador, who, too, called for mutual trust but then went on to tell a barefaced lie. He said there is no censorship of the news coming out of Russia.

Here are Prime Minister Macmillan's exact words in his speech on Wednesday:

"I think there can be no real understanding and friendship between these two great divisions of the world until the Soviet Union has achieved sufficient self-confidence to abandon the control and censorship of communications.

"It is rather depressing to me that even now the Soviet government should think it necessary to spend so much time, effort, ingenuity and money on jamming the broadcasts from the Western countries. And as long as this kind of negative thinking prevails, there can be no great optimism about the prospects for a wide, more comprehensive settlement."

THIS, OF COURSE, is the root of the trouble — it's the perennial cause of misunderstanding and mistrust.

Since the news of what is happening inside the Soviet Union is censored and the people of that country are not permitted to read what is happening in their own government or in the governments abroad, there can be no solid basis for a peaceful relationship.

Inevitably distortions will lead to the misunderstandings and miscalculations which so often in the past have brought on war.

Throughout the whole world today there is a demand by public opinion that every step humanly possible shall be taken to avert a war. Many persons have gone to lengths almost of fanaticism in arguing, for instance, that suspension of nuclear tests is a start toward avoidance of war. But this is a delusion.

The Soviet Union may prate about a desire to stop testing but there are enough H-bombs already in its stockpile to destroy hundreds of millions of human beings if war does break out.

THE MISGUIDED theory that suspension of the tests would be an effective beginning overlooks the adamant attitude of the Soviets toward any restriction or control by inspection that would ban the actual production of the destructive bombs.

Yet in America there are factions, some of them partisans, which have sought to make it appear that the United States is blocking peace because it doesn't want to agree to suspend nuclear tests without some controls on the production and use of H-bombs.

Many prominent Democrats have put themselves in the position of aiding the Soviet side of the debate by insisting that a suspension of nuclear tests alone is desirable, no matter whether any other agreements are reached.

Prime Minister Macmillan, however, who has to face in his own country the same kind of misuse of international issues for partisan purposes, takes the flat position that suspension of nuclear tests cannot be agreed to by Great Britain until it has full knowledge of atomic matters that now are withheld by the United States through an act of Congress.

TO PUT IT another way, the Prime Minister is thinking of the security of his own country. He puts first and foremost the necessity of more testing and ties this to a further acquisition from the United States of scientific data that can be utilized in British tests.

What seems strange is that, with all the disclosures in recent testimony in Congress about the horrible ways by which germs now can be used in chemical warfare, no group of zealots has come forward to demand that these tests—which are going on all the time in the laboratories of the world — shall also be suspended.

Indeed Khrushchev has just announced an expansion of the chemical industry in the Soviet Union.

It isn't the testing of devices or the scientific knowledge of death-dealing weapons that menaces the peace of the world. It isn't the weapon itself but the mind that orders the trigger pulled, that must be restrained.

This cannot be controlled so long as the people of the Soviet Union themselves are enslaved and are not allowed to get uncensored news of their own country and the rest of the world.

Capitol-Flown Flags

By Dorothy McCardle

Flag Day is being celebrated across the nation today by a lucky few who are able to say, "Yes, ma'am, that flag you see there once waved over the United States Capitol Building in Washington."

Their particular Old Glory did fly over the Capitol — if only for a mere five or ten minutes!

The busiest spot up on Capitol Hill these past few weeks has probably not been the offices of any senator or congressman but the flagpole astride the Capitol rotunda.

Anybody keeping tabs on that flag pole must have thought he was seeing things. He was, too, since at the rate of five or six flags per hour, from dawn's early light to dusk, assorted replicas of the Stars and Stripes have been run up the pole for a quick flutter and down again.

J. George Stewart, Capitol architect, reports that flying the American Flag over the Capitol for a series of trial waves has become big business for his office. Last year all records were broken when 3,192 versions of Old Glory were given this quickie flight by special request of various patriotic groups from Maine to California.

The way things are going at the Capitol flag pole so far this year, it looks as if 1958 will top last year's record.

How can you get one of these flags? You must write your senator or your congressman, explain for what purpose you wish such a flag. Then he buys you a flag — at your expense or his, depending on how flush he is feeling — and sends it to the architect's office with a little note that he would like your flag to take its turn at the Capitol flag pole.

Shortly, you get your flag with a note, saying just when it took the breeze per your request.

The custom began 21 years ago when only six flags were flown during the entire year. As the idea got about, more and more people started writing their congressman. By 1953, some 657 flags got this special treatment. Since then, numbers have risen every year, especially as Flag Day comes around.

Rep. Chet Holifield of California adds a little something extra to the package in which he ships Capitol-flown flags back to his constituents. This is a booklet put out by the U.S. Marine Corps, entitled, "How To Respect and Display Our Flag."

Of course, people are doing the wrong thing about flag flying all the time. But housewives, at this housecleaning time of the year, are especially guilty. There is one thing which no housewife in her anxiety about displaying a clean flag should ever do.

"Never put an iron to the American Flag," cautions Mr. Stewart.

To Dad on His Day

By Paul Steiner

Father's Day rolls around again and daddy is the hero of the hour—or even 24 of them. Unhappily, however, there doesn't seem to be the same feeling of love and respect which greets Mother's Day—as note the following quotes by the great and near-eminent, all of whom had fathers.

"It is impossible to please the whole world and your father as well."—Jean de la Fontaine, 17th century French writer.

"Put father back at the head of the family!"—Samuel S. Leibowitz, senior judge of Brooklyn's highest criminal court.

"Father is the head of the family, so he is the one who gets all the headaches."—Al Barker, Cincinnati greeting card designer.

"Many an excellent man is tempted to forget that the best offering he can make his children is himself."—Henry Neumann, author and educator.

"How can you blame a teenager for being confused when the chances are his father's whole attitude on safety is to talk like a saint and drive like a devil?"—Paul Jones, National Safety Council information director.

"What a father says to his children is not heard by the world, but it will be heard by posterity."—Jean Paul Richter in "Levana."

"Nearly every father is a firm believer in heredity—until his son makes a fool of himself."—Richard R. Falk, New York publicist.

"With the growth of modern civilization, the role of the father is being increasingly taken over by the state, and there is reason to think that a father may cease before long to be biologically advantageous, at any rate in the wage earning class."—Bertrand Russell in "Marriage and Morals."

"My father taught me to work; he did not teach me to love it."—Abraham Lincoln.

"A father is a banker provided by nature."—French proberb.

"Fathers, forcing their way to the baby food racks in the super market, leaving the relative quiet of home for the din of a Cub Pack meeting, trying to make the best of a bad situation in the principal's office, may well turn their thoughts to the comparative ease and pleasure of the old army life."—Dorothy Barclay in the New York Times.

"A man with five children is better satisfied than a man with five million dollars. The man with five million dollars wants more."—Walter Slezak.

POOR MORPHEUS
Insomnia sufferers of old ate raw white onions to woo the arms of Morpheus. Pity the poor husband or wife! Today we have more reliable methods of inducing sleep . . . sleeping pills and the tranquilizers for example. But, these medications are prescription items and should be taken only upon the advice of your physician. Check the obvious reasons for sleeplessness first—it may be caused by a lumpy mattress. Benefit Dance Brings in $125 For Marion 'Y'

Approximately 350 junior and senior high school boys and girls crowded the YMCA last night for the Rotary benefit dance featuring Bruce MacDonald of WJW of Cleveland.

Highlighting the evening of dancing were the dance contests with the awarding of more than 500 records and albums to participants.

Bitter Senate Battle Continues on Amendments to Labor Bill

Floor Fight On Changes In Third Day

Key Administration Proposals Are Beaten Back by Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary senators return to the Capitol today to push ahead with votes on a labor control bill still lacking many features urged by President Eisenhower.

In a second successive 12-hour session Friday, the senators beat back two major amendments urged by the administration, with the voting largely along party lines.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chief author of the bill, predicted that far-reaching GOP amendments also would meet defeat today.

Calls Early Session

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called the Senate into session two hours ahead of the usual time in an effort to win final passage by tonight. But there seemed a reasonable chance the debate would run into next week.

Forty-four new amendments were on senators' desk Friday, and only two of these were disposed of during the day. Most of the amendments were from the Republicans.

The first up for a vote today was another amendment offered by the Eisenhower administration and strongly opposed by union leaders.

It provides that a union shall lose its right to be certified as bargaining agent and to use National Labor Relations Board procedures unless it files financial reports required by the bill.

Major Provisions Unchanged

The major provisions of the bill remained essentially unchanged after the two days of debate. These would set up union democracy procedures, including secret elections, and require detailed public financial reporting by the larger unions, and their officers.

The measure also would modify the Taft-Hartley Act to meet long standing union complaints. These provisions would repeal the requirement for filing non-Communist affidavids by union officers, permit prehire arrangements for construction unions, and allow strikers to vote in a bargaining election after they have been replaced.

Parkin Christian Tells of Life on Pitcairn

Mutineers' Descendants Now Peace-Loving Folk

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

The colorful history of life on Pitcairn Island following its settlement by mutineers on the "Bounty" in 1790 was described Friday night by Parkin Christian, great-great grandson of Fletcher Christian, who led the mutiny.

Speaking before nearly 300 people at the Seventh-day Adventist Junior Academy in Monnett, the 74-year-old islander told his audience that the tropical island since its settlement more than 150 years ago, has become highly civilized.

In fact, said Mr. Christian, "I left civilization to sail to an uncivilized place when I came to this country."

Clarifying his point, the speaker declared that his people, in most cases descendants of the mutineers, are peace-loving. They are not devising deadly weapons capable of mass destuction as are people in this country, said Mr. Christian. He expressed the opinion that America's concern with instruments of war justly labels the nation "uncivilized."

HE EXPLAINED that the population of this tiny island, one mile mile wide and two miles long, has changed little since the mutineers set foot on it. Inhabitants now number 153. The island is half way between New Zealand and Panama.

He disclosed earlier in an interview that because of intermarriage in the closed society, there are but half a dozen surnames on the island. One-third of the population bears the name Christian, so is therefore descended from Fletcher Christian.

In contrast with other isolated Pacific islands of its size, Pitcairn has little disease and is a clean, closely-knit community, he said. The English-speaking natives, European in appearance, devote much time to cleanliness, he said.

They are a church-minded people, too, Mr. Christian told his attentive audience. The Seventh-day Adventist denomination has become the official church on the island, due to a missionary movement started there nearly 100 years ago.

The islanders, being firm Christians, have little need for law, said their elder statesman, who served as chief magistrate for several years, just retiring in January.

Other characteristics of life on Pitcairn were cited by Mr. Christian. There are no banks or need for a currency system. Inhabitants carve wood curios which they trade, along with bountiful crops, such as fruit, with passing ships.

THE ELDER statesman was quick to take no undue credit as a descendant of Fletcher Christian during the personal interview. He claimed he was "related only by blood" and that regardless of ancestry, persons everywhere "are all molded of the same clay."

His admiration for the sea was apparent in his account of sailing experiences, some of them not too smooth. Twice he was shipwrecked aboard a schooner.

Asked if he was eager to return to his island home, the tanned traveler promptly answered "no." He has been in this country three weeks. Prime purpose of his visit is to attend the world conference of the Adventist denomination in Cleveland, June 19-28. Tours further west may keep him in this country even after the convention. This is his first visit to the U.S. but he has traveled elsewhere extensively.

Although he advocates a simple way of life, uncluttered by modern-day inventions, he had to admit that the latter part of his trip here, by plane from Panama, was most exciting. The first lap of the 3,500-mile journey was made by boat.

Absence of electricity on the island prevents use of many appliances and entertainment features such as television. But, said Mr. Christian, commenting on TV, "It's a blessing we don't have it. Television is a nuisance."

Islanders, whose number he described as "just a basketful," use autos and see motion pictures, too.

Residents of this British crown colony he said, are self reliant. They receive a thorough education in the church's school at Pitcairn, he said.

The speaker concluded his talk by admonishing those present to lead a Christian life and let the Bible be their guide to coming ever closer to God's kingdom.

Mr. Christian was introduced by Melvin H. Reeder, public relations secretary for the Ohio congregation of Seventh-day Adventists, who is accompanying him on an extensive speaking tour, including television appearances.

MR. REEDER briefly outlined the history of the "Bounty," and how the English crew mutinied after a ruthless captain subjected them to cruelty and starvation. Casting the captain off ship, the sailors, under the direction of Fletcher Christian, their new leader, journeyed on, finally to make their home on the uninhabited Pitcairn Island. There were a total of 28 original inhabitants, counting the mutineers and their Polynesian wives, he said.

Only four months after it had dropped anchor near the island, the historic boat was burned. In 1933 Mr. Christian discovered and unearthed the "Bounty" rudder, now at a museum in Fiji.

Preceding the evening program a song fest was held. The meeting was under the direction of Elder Walter Haase, pastor of the Monnett church. Charles Hinkley sang a solo.

Following the talk by Mr. Christian a question and answer session was held and persons invited to meet the "elder statesman of Pitcairn Island" in an informal reception. Large photographs depicting life and scenery on the island were displayed.

SHOWS ISLAND CURIOS. Parkin Christian, great-great-grandson of Fletcher Christian, leader of the famous mutiny on the "Bounty," shows wood carvings here which were displayed during his talk Friday night at the Seventh-day Adventist Junior Assembly in Monnett. One of 153 residents on Pitcairn Island, located in the Pacific, he described life there since the mutineers settled on the island nearly 200 years ago. He is in the United States to attend a world convention of the Seventh-day Adventists in Cleveland June 19-28.

day, then made him wait 48 hours before receiving him.

Soustelle, 46, was De Gaulle's information director in the war and served in his 1945 Cabinet. He evaded police surveillance in Paris after the May 13 Algiers military-colonialist uprising, flew to Algiers and joined the junta.

As Soustelle left De Gaulle's office, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov walked in. He said afterward he had given De Gaulle a verbal personal message from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and a note on a proposed summit conference similar to that delivered yesterday in Washington and London.

The Premier meanwhile sought a sound financial foundation for his political and colonial reform plans by asking his countrymen to dig hoarded money out of their mattresses.

British Break Hold of U.S. in Tennis Series

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Britain's tennis girls, spurred on by 17-year-old Christine Truman's startling upset of Althea Gibson, smashed America's 18-year hold on the Wightman Cup today.

Ann Haydon put Britain into a clinching 4-2 edge in the best of seven match series with a 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 victory over Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., after the power-hitting Miss Truman had broken a 2-2 tie by outplaying Miss Gibson 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The United States lost the cup for the first time in 22 meetings since 1930 and for the fifth time in 30 matches since the series began in 1923.

It had won the opening singles match of the closing day program when Dorothy Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., upset Shirley Bloomer, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Haydon's victory made meaningless a closing doubles match between Miss Gibson and Janet Hopps of Seattle and Britain's Ann Shilcock and Pat Ward.

Three-Year-Old Tours Western Section of City

A three-year-old Marion boy went for a ride on his tricycle Friday afternoon.

Before he was missed, Carl Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips of 493 Uncapher Ave. had covered some 10 blocks to the 300 block on Nye St. in about one-half hour.

A Nye street resident called police about the apparently lost boy at 2:14 p.m., just before Mrs. Phillips also called police to report the boy missing.

Police quickly returned the boy with the roving tricycle to his home.

Week Proclaimed Here For Retarded Children

A proclamation setting aside the week of June 15-21 as "Retarded Children's Week" in Marion was issued today by Mayor Wendell L. Strong.

The mayor asked that all civic and welfare organizations cooperate with all Marion County Councils for Retarded Children in making this a "favorable and prosperous week for the retarded children of the county."

Fall From Truck Fatal

CINCINNATI (AP)—George W. Scott, 46, of Cincinnati was killed and two other workers injured Friday when they were knocked off the rear of a moving truck. Police said one of the wooden concrete pillar forms the truck was carrying dislodged and swept them off the vehicle.

refused to say whether Adams, as reported, had accepted a $700 vicuna coat or a $2,400 Oriental rug from Goldfine. Adams' letter said nothing about a coat or a rug. He has been unavailable to newsmen.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman said he has no evidence Adams received such gifts from the wealthy Boston industrialist.

Meanwhile, the House subcommittee checking influence on federal regulatory agencies focused on hearings starting Monday that might shed light on whether Adams swung federal favors for his Boston friend.

So far, there has been no evidence on the subcommittee record as to whether Adams helped Goldfine in troubles with the Federal Trade Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill), who has called for Adams' resignation, said there is no special need now for the Harris subcommittee to concentrate on what further favors Adams may have received.

house, sheriff's deputies said.

An automobile stolen from the Hal Wyss residence in the northern section of Delaware also was found Thursday in Columbus near Cooks' residence, Columbus police reported.

Cooks is accused of attacking three women, one of them twice. The 24-year-old mother was attacked last Dec. 20 in her home when a man asked to use her telephone because his truck had broken down.

A 58-year-old Orange Township woman was attacked April 10 by a man also who asked to use her telephone because his truck had broken down. Sheriff Wornstaff said she has identified Cooks as her attacker.

In the attack Wednesday, sheriff's deputies said that the man also threatened to attack the older woman's seven-year-old daughter.

The charges against Cooks were filed in Delaware Municipal Court before he was taken into custody in Columbus Thursday.

William Young, proprietor of a local service station, was named to the Ohio Division Council of Shell Oil Dealers and will attend a meeting in Cleveland June 17 to discuss problems of mutual interest to dealers and suppliers.

Miami River Is At Flood Stage After Big Rain

By The Associated Press

Rain-drenched and storm-weary Ohioans appeared headed for a day of rest today in their week-long battle with the elements.

The Weather Bureau forecast fair skies and cool weather for most of the state.

The storms Friday, which sent already rain-swollen streams to their banks, have moved southward into Kentucky.

The greatest amount of rainfall reported Friday was at Dayton where 3.25 inches fell. The downpour sent the receding Miami River climbing again, threatening more than 1,500 residents of the Miami Shores and Miami Villa areas just south of that city.

The Dayton rain ran the city's five-day total up to 8.22 inches, five inches above the normal for the month.

Also along the raging Miami River, just south of Middletown, the Ohio Highway Patrol used row boats to evacuate a mother and her seven children who were trapped in their home.

Extremely heavy rainfall was also reported in Sedalia with 2.96 and Columbus with 2.23.

The Weather Bureau again posted tornado warnings Friday for first the northern part of the state and then the central section.

The only reported heavy winds, however, struck Friday morning at Lockbourne Air Force Base outside Columbus where two small hangers were damaged, windows were broken and two trailers were upset.

A late afternoon storm with winds up to 70 m.p.h. roared through Urbana. Several roofs were blown off and garages moved off their foundations in that storm.

In Cincinnati lightning struck an elementary school, touching off a fire that destroyed the roof and top floor of the building.

The Weather Bureau there reported winds up to 70 m.p.h. and hail.

Break-In, Theft of Tire Are Reported to Sheriff

A breaking and entering at a Morral auto garage and a tire and wheel theft from Green Camp were reported to sheriff's deputies this morning.

H. J. Faurot of Morral told deputies an undetermined amount of change was taken from a cash drawer in his garage but that the thieves left behind several pennies and silver dollars.

The tire and wheel theft was reported by Dan Mitchell of Green Camp. He said they were taken from his car sometime after 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Steel Firms Hit at Delay In SUB Case

Intervenors Urged To File Briefs Early With Ohio High Court

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Steel companies involved in supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) cases before the Ohio Supreme Court voiced a hope today that intervenors in the proceedings would—"in accordance with their previous commitment"—file briefs promptly.

But the chance of such a move in time to bring a decision before fall seemed as slim as ever. The Ohio Information Committee, which is sponsor of the intervenors, already turned down a similar speed-up request from Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Issue Statement

The steel companies—U. S. Steel, Republic, Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—issued a statement Friday which said:

"When the intervenors were permitted to intervene by stipulation entered into by all counsel, it was distinctly understood their participation in the litigation would at no stage delay the clearly stated desire of the main parties to get an early determination of issues, even if that meant recourse to the highest court in the state.

"Having now reached that court, it is unfortunate that counsel for the intervenors, who up to this point have studiously lived up to the spirit and letter of the original understanding, would interpose a technical objection to a prompt determination of this important issue by the Supreme Court of Ohio, especially since the basic issue has been thoroughly and completely briefed in the lower courts."

O'Neill Raps Milligan

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee, was tagged by Gov. O'Neill Friday as one who "is preventing the court from hearing it (the SUB case) when all interested parties are ready to have it heard and decided."

Milligan, whose organization includes a number of small industrial and commercial employers, also was mentioned by name in the steel companies' statement. In Columbus he replied to both the governor and the steel companies Friday night. To O'Neill he replied:

"The sole purpose of the Ohio Information Committee is to sustain the decision of the voters of Ohio who rejected SUB by a vote of 2-1 in 1955; the Ohio Legislature which rejected SUB in 1955 and 1957 and the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation which rejected SUB in 1956 and 1957.

Will Not Change Plans

"We cannot sustain those decisions by waiving our rights. Consequently, the governor's statement will not change our plans."

To the steel companies' statement, Milligan responded that the normal 40-day filing period for Supreme Court briefs was a basic right and the intervenors "have never at any time agreed to waive their basic right."

"If the Supreme Court felt the intervenors were delaying so as to jeopardize the interests of the case, the court could have asked to shorten the time to file briefs," Milligan continued.

He said the 15 million dollars in the employe trust fund for SUB could be distributed to unemployed workers anytime the union and companies agree and without state action. The trial court here, however, cautioned against this process, since if the lower court decisions are reversed the money would have to be reimbursed to the BUC.

Killed Near Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sandra Ewen, 17, of nearby Shawnee Hills, was killed early today when the truck in which she was riding went out of control, hit a wall and overturned on Ohio 257 just north of Dublin.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

A Marion woman was arrested on a charge of reckless operation after her auto was involved in an accident Friday at 4:45 p.m. at the intersection of Marion County Rd. 66 and Big Island Township Rd. 95.

Investigating state patrolmen of the local post said the northbound car on the township road, driven by Myrtle Lee Palmer, 41, of 447 Bartram Ave., attempted a left turn onto the county road and collided with an eastbound vehicle.

Patrolmen said the eastbound car on the county road was driven by Eugene Cantner, 41, of St. Johns.

The Palmer driver told officers she hit the accelerator instead of the brake in attempting to stop at the intersection before making the turn. Both vehicles were considerably damaged, patrolmen said.

Youth Injured

One person was injured in one of four traffic accidents investigated Friday by Marion police.

Hurt when his motor bike was struck by a hitskip automobile at 7:27 p.m. was Ken Feaver, 14, of 1170 E. Center St. He suffered a skinned right arm and bruised right side, but required no immediate medical attention.

He told police he was riding west on E. Center St. at Lincoln Ave. and was struck by a right-turning automobile, which failed to stop after the accident.

A collision at N. State and Mark streets at 7:01 p.m. involved cars driven by R. L. Almendinger, 18, of 404 Park St., and F. W. Elliott, 20, of 216 E. Mark St.

Police arrested Elliott on a charge of having insufficient brakes on his automobile.

Cars driven by J. R. Vanderford, 38, of 342 Merchant Ave. and Fern Sophie Lewis, 38, of 797 Woodrow Ave. collided at E. Church and Baker streets at 4:48 p.m.

The only other accident in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Escapees

Ignoring the cash register, showcases and counters inside the store, the intruders looted the top shelf of the show window display.

Police listed these items as missing: three diamond ring sets, valued at $275, $245 and $130; four wrist watches, ranging in value from $39.50 to $69.50, and a cigarette lighter worth $15.

Entrance to the store was gained by knocking out the plate glass in the front door, police said. The theft was reported at 7:57 a.m. after Mr. Ley came to work.

Dungarees found about 9:45 a.m. were identified as belonging to one of the inmates after a search of the pockets revealed the prison identification number.

The rear license plate on a truck owned by Richard Warren of Findlay was reported missing in the same area where the dungarees were discarded, at the Leuthold housing addition on Marion Rd. near Beal Ave.

Police in Bucyrus expressed the opinion the men had hopped a freight from Marion to Bucyrus.

The trio wrenched the bars loose from a third-floor hospital window at the local prison, and jumping to the ground from a roof, succeeded in scaling the fence unnoticed in a rainstorm. They were discovered missing shortly thereafter in a hospital bed check. Gulley was a patient in the prison hospital while the other two were nurses.

Guard

Clark is scheduled to be arraigned in Marion Municipal Court Monday. He had been a guard at the local prison since March 18, 1957. He entered the county jail at 1:40 a.m. today, sheriff's deputies said.

U.S. Industry Shows Upturn In Production

Industrial Survey Lists First Climbing Trend in 12 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Industrial production took an upswing last month for the first time since June last year.

The Federal Reserve Board, reporting this Friday, said the index of output for the nation's factories, mines and mills rose by one point from April to May.

This brought the index to 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average—still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points under the record high of December 1956.

Best Since Last Fall

The board's report was another indication that May was the best business month since the recession began last fall.

Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Mitchell confirmed that he and Vice President Nixon waged a losing fight within the adminstration for proposing a tax cut to Congress.

Asked at a news conference if he and Nixon had lost the argument to Secretary if the Treasury Anderson and the Federal Reserve Board, Mitchell said:

"I'll say this, Vice President Nixon and I said publicly on several occasions we favored a tax cut. The administration has not favored one."

Lowest Since Jan. 4

In another economic development, the Labor Department reported that unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits dropped during the week ending May 31 by 65,300 to the lowest level since Jan. 4.

It was the seventh consecutive week the department has reported a decline and brought the total of insured unemployment down to 2,827,600.

Another decline also was reported in initial claims for unemployment benefits, an indicator of new layoffs among covered workers. The department said initial claims dropped by 16,500 during the week ended June 7 to a new 1958 low of 321,600.

Rifle Bullet Hits Window of House

A slug from a .22 caliber rifle narrowly missed a Marion housewife shortly after 5 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. D. A. Bolin of 594½ N. Main St. called police at 5:12 p.m. after she heard the crack of a gun and the thump as the bullet lodged in a kitchen window frame.

Police said if the bullet had missed the window frame by an inch it could have struck Mrs. Bolin.

The bullet was lodged deeply in the wood of the center partition of the casement type windows and had smashed through a pane of the open window. Police checked the area but were unable to determine where the bullet came from.

Dance Is Sponsored Only by the V-23 Club

A dance scheduled next Friday night at the V-23 Club south of Marion will be sponsored solely by the V-23 Club, Al Wayne of the Al Wayne Orchestra said today. It was incorrectly reported to The Star that the Par Dance Club and the Martha Douce Dance Club were cooperating with the V-23 Club in sponsoring the dance. Mr. Wayne said today that neither of the dance clubs is involved in the sponsorship of the affair.

Graham Ends His Meetings At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Graham preaches the last evening sermon tonight in his seven-week crusade at the Cow Palace.

He winds up the series Sunday with an afternoon meeting, then rests until next Sunday when he'll hold a rally at Seals Stadium where he estimates 30,000 people will attend.

Graham preached Friday night to a capacity crowd of 16,500 on the excuses people give for not "making a decision for Christ."

There are no valid ones in the sight of God, he said.

God's forgiveness abounds even more than the sins of man, he declared, so there is no excuse for saying one has sinned too much.

"All Christ asks you to give up are your sins," he said of people who feel they have too much to give up.

To say "not now, but some other time is not to live each day of your life as though it's the last, as you should," Graham said.

"Decisions for Christ" Friday night numbered 871.

Testimony Ends in Lastrapes Case, Lawyers To File Briefs

Attorneys for the Frederick C. Smith Clinic and Dr. Thomas S. Lastrapes elected to file briefs in the clinic's suit for a permanent injunction against the physician after testimony was completed Friday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Jay S. McDevitt of Mount Vernon gave the plaintiff until July 3 to file briefs and allowed the defendant an additional three weeks until July 24.

The attorneys had the option of presenting oral arguments before the judge or of filing briefs. Judge McDevitt will render a decision in the case after the briefs are filed.

Dr. Lastrapes Testifies

As the three-day hearing neared completion yesterday, defense attorneys called Dr. Lastrapes to the witness stand to testify on his behalf.

During the testimony, Dr. Lastrapes repeated his contention that a contract he signed with the clinic was invalidated because the partnership with which he contracted ceased to exist before he came to Marion from Cleveland in June of 1955.

The clinic is seeking to enjoin the physician from practicing in Marion County for four years from Jan. 1, 1957, in accordance with the contract which Dr. Lastrapes signed in June of 1954. A clause in the contract specified he was to refrain from practice here for four years after leaving the clinic staff.

Dr. Lastrapes testified that he was concerned about the clause when the contract was mailed to him. He testified Dr. Philip W. Smith told him during a telephone conversation that the clause was no cause for concern and that it would not be enforced. Earlier in the hearing Dr. Smith denied that such a conversation ever took place.

Signed Agreements

Under cross-examination by the clinic's attorneys Thursday, Dr. Lastrapes testified that he signed agreements modifying the original contract. The agreements, signed in October and July of 1956, said in effect that his contract would remain effective under the partnership existing at that time.

The plaintiff contends that Dr. Lastrapes damaged its business by drawing patients from the clinic after he left the staff.

In addition to alleging the original contract was invalidated by the 1955 partnership change, defense attorneys hold that the clause at issue is unreasonable and restrictive. They also contend that Dr. Lastrapes' continued practice here is essential to the community.

Judge McDevitt presided during the original hearing in the case on Feb. 6, 1957, while Judge Paul D. Smith was on vacation.

The clinic is represented by the law firms of Donithen, Michel and Davis, and Strelitz, Halberstein and Mitchell. The law firms of Moore, Myers and Parsell, and Moloney and Kelly represent Dr. Lastrapes.

Hunter Sparks Indians to 10-1 Win Over Senators

New Tribe Infielder Raps 4 Hits; Narleski Nails 8th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Hunter's performance at short stop Friday night made the Cleveland Indians' trade with Kansas City Thursday look good.

In his debut in a Cleveland uniform, Hunter, who had batted only .155 with the Athletics, got four hits—including two doubles—in five trips to the plate. The Indians trounced the Washington Senators 10-1 in the opener of a four-game series.

Hunter, who came to the Tribe in a trade for Chico Carrasquel, also had a stolen base, scored two runs and flawlessly handled seven chances in the field. The scrappy shortstop's four hits raised his season's batting average to .206.

Ray Narleski Coasts

His contributions — plus home runs by Billy Moran, J. W. Porter and Minnie Minoso, which drove in eight runs—made things fairly easy for Ray Narleski, who registered his eighth victory against four defeats.

The righthander didn't need too much offensive help. He limited the Senators to four hits, fanned eight batters and walked only one. One of the hits was a fifth inning homer by Jim Lemon, which kept Narleski from getting a shutout. The others were a pair of singles by Roy Sievers and a single by Ken Aspromonte.

The Indians scored two unearned runs in the first inning off Chuck Stobbs, who also was the victim of three-run homers by Moran and Porter in the sixth and seventh innings, respectively. Minoso's two-run homer was hit off reliefer Al Cicotte in the ninth.

Two errors helped the Indians to their runs in the first inning. The first was a wild throw by third baseman Herb Plews after Roger Maris had led off with a bunt. The other was a muff at first base by Sievers on a grounder by Minoso.

Rocky Colavito singled following the second error, scoring Maris from second base. Minoso went to second on Colavito's hit, stole third and scored when Porter's windblown fly dropped safely in right field.

Moran Hits First Homer

When Moran hit his homer—the first of his major league career—Colavito was on second by way of a walk and a sacrifice and Preston Ward was on first having been hit by a pitched ball.

Porter's homer an inning later followed a double by Hunter and a safe bunt past Stobbs by Minoso. Hunter was on first with a single when Minoso hit his home run.

Cal McLish, who has won two games and lost three, will pitch for the Indians this afternoon. He will be opposed by Harold Griggs, who has a 3-2 record. Both are righthanders.

Harold Carter Takes Verdict Over German

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Carter, the mystic, deep thinker, lover of poetry and philosopher (he says) is ready to start mingling with the top heavyweights.

Carter dropped Nietzche and Keats to spar with Besmanoff (Willi), a heavy muscled German, Friday night at Madison Square Garden. He got away with a unanimous decision over Willi although he tired in the late rounds.

"Did you have any poetic thoughts?" a man asked in the dressing room.

"I ran over a few lines," he answered. Sitting on a rubbing table, he spoke:

"If you can keep your head, while all around you men are losing theirs' . . ."

Gene Tunney wasn't around so the boxing writers couldn't check Harold for accuracy. It seemed every one had forgotten to bring their copy of Kipling to the fights.

"We're ready for Nino Valdes," said Manager Gene Holmes in a more prosaic mood. "Then we'll take any of the top four, including the champ."

Carter, 191¼, to Besmanoff's 193 pounds, admitted he "needed the fight." He also admitted he was a little "fatigued." Just when it appeared he was going to flatten Besmanoff, the German would come up with a flurry that would wobble Harold. There were no knockdowns.

All three officials scored it lopsided in favor of the 22-year-old boxer from Linden, N.J., who was coming off a 17-month layoff after serving in the Army.

If you were an umbrella salesman you could have picked up a tidy sum selling your wares in any of the International League ball parks Friday night.

Despite the rain they managed to get in two games. The Rochester Red Wings downed the Richmond Virginians 10-9 and the Columbus Jets beat the Buffalo Bisons 6-1. The Jets were scheduled to play a double header but when the rain kept coming down the nightcap was postponed.

Miami at Montreal was rained out as was the double header between the Havana Sugar Kings and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Skin Diving Club Volunteers for Emergency Jobs

Mask and Fin Group Is Organized; Quarries In County Studied

Marion's newest hobby group—the Marion Mask and Fin Aqua-Lung Club—has placed itself on 24-hour call for underwater rescue in case of tragedy during the coming summer months.

Until the past winter, skin diving locally was only a faint hope for a small group interested in that new and unfamiliar sport. Then the handful of faithful went to work and the club now is operating.

The first meetings of the group were held in April and in May the club became a full - fledged part of the local sports scene when a constitution was adopted.

Temporary officers of the Mask and Fin Club are Jim McBride, president; Robert Finley, vice president; Paul Benson, secretary and treasurer; George Pope, safety officer, and Larry Davis and Tom Indoe, assistant safety officers. Other charter members of the club are George Scantland Jr. and John Dix.

SEVERAL other persons have expressed an interest in becoming members and have been attending meetings of the group regularly, McBride and Mr. Benson reported. Applications for membership are being accepted and any potential skin diver can obtain details from McBride at the Marion YMCA.

Biggest obstacle in the way of formation of the local group was adequate training from experienced personnel. However, members of the Mansfield and Springfield clubs stepped in to assist with the early training at the YMCA pool.

Safety is stressed at all times during the club's activities and before a would-be member is allowed to dive, he is checked out thoroughly in the use of diving equipment in the YMCA pool with experienced divers on hand at all times.

All new members go through a probationary period during which they are trained in the use of underwater breathing equipment and all safety factors in underwater activity.

ONCE THE NOVICE completes his probation and is accepted as a member of the club, he is forced to abide by a strict safety code adopted as part of the club's constitution. All diving is done in pairs and 12-foot safety ropes are used to prevent any trouble. All underwater work is done in teams.

The club is a YMCA-sponsored program and members have the option of training in the YMCA pool in carrying on their activities during the winter months. A special period has been set aside weekly for the skin diving group.

The veteran divers currently are in the process of exploring the many abandoned stone quarries around Marion County. Several hours have been devoted to that task during the last several weeks with much work still to be done.

The group has placed itself at the disposal of the Marion police and fire departments, the Marion County sheriff's office and the State Highway Patrol should its services be needed during the coming swimming season.

Reds' Pitching Staff Sparking Team's Climb

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs Manager Birdie Tebbetts spent a rainy afternoon Friday counting his blessings. They are called Bob Purkey, Brooks Lawrence and Harvey Haddix.

Here are the figures:

Since leaving home 13 games ago, the Redlegs have won nine and Tebbetts has gotten eight completely pitched games.

The 13 games include a total of 116 innings in which the opposition tolled off 100 hits and only 32 earned runs. That's a 2.48 earned run average.

Purkey, with a string of five straight wins has three complete jobs on the trip. Lawrence also has gone the distance three times. Each additionally has a shutout since the road trip began.

Purkey will be going for his sixth straight win today and his eighth in nine starts as he opens against the Chicago Cubs, the only team in the league he has not pitched against.

The opener was postponed Friday by rain.

The Cubs will send Johnny

The Cubs will send Johnny Briggs to the mound, a rookie righthander.

Jewell Quits Basketball Post At Holmes-Liberty

BUCYRUS — Clarence Jewell Jr., who guided nearby Holmes-Liberty's basketball team to the Class A state championship finals in Columbus this spring, has resigned after four years at the Crawford County School.

Jewell was out of the city today but it was learned he has been considering several offers from larger schools.

The jovial mentor posted a record of 77 victories and 15 losses in his tenure at Holmes-Liberty. Eight of the losses came in his first season.

He also coached the Pirates' varsity track and baseball teams and the reserve and freshman basketball squad.

Jewell's resignation was accepted by the Holmes-Liberty School Board this week. A successor is expected to be named later this summer.

The $5,923 Transamerica Pace was rescheduled for tonight.

All-Star Action Here Delayed

Rain and wet grounds forced postponement of the Ohio Big Eight League's all-star game Friday night at Lincoln Park.

League officials were to meet here today to consider new dates for the all-star classic.

Three members of the Marion Independents were named to the western division all - star team. They were Jim Riley, Fritz Walter, Dick Gherman and Don Johnson. The Independents are scheduled to meet Lorain at 6:30 tonight at Lincoln Park in a regular league contest.

The Lorain nine was the 1957 Ohio Big Eight champion.

The visitors will have last year's league batting champion in Lee Pawlak at third base. Pawlak blasted Big Eight pitching for a blistering .378 mark. Jim Smith, another of the loop's top hitters, will be in centerfield. He also serves as a league director. Lorain is managed by Paul Mrosek.

Sonny Taylor, Sherm McKinniss and Walters will be available to pitch for Marion while Kuhn, McKannon and Rogers are expected to hurl for Lorain.

John Hachten and Gene Mull will serve as umpires with Charm McCrery acting as official scorer. Concession stands will be operated by the Baseball for Boys Commission.

Marion currently is in the cellar spot in Western Division standings with five straight losses without a win. The local team trails league leading Gibsonburg by three and a half games. The leaders have won three and lost one. Toledo is second with a 2-1 record while Fostoria is 3-2. Both are a half game off the pace. Akron, Norwalk and Tiffin are tied in the Eastern Division with 3-2 marks while Lorain trails by a game and a half with a 2-4 record.

Final Round Begins

Bolt Holding Slim Lead in Open Play

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tommy Bolt today set out to hold his lead in the National Open golf championship against two unexpected rivals while the men whose names were bandied about a few days ago as likely winners looked on from the sidelines.

The 39-year-old Bolt Friday had a double bogey six that marred his second straight round of 71.

55 Survivors Start

As 55 survivors of the field which numbered 2,150 original entries and 162 starters plunged into today's final 36-hole marathon, the players to beat lined up this way: Bolt at 142; Gary Player, the 22-year-old South African who is the tournament's only par-breaker so far, at 143 and wealthy 35-year-old Frank Stranahan at 144.

Missing for the first time in this stage in 18 National Opens was Sam Snead, who never has succeeded in winning this title. Cary Middlecoff, two-time champion who shared the favorite's role, barely escaped elimination with 154. Four-time winner Ben Hogan, suffering from an injured left hand, made a brief bid for the lead but wound up six strokes behind at 148.

Mayer, Venturi Trail

Dick Mayer, the defending champion, was farther back at 150 and Ken Venturi, brilliant leader of the younger generation of touring golfers, had 152.

Tied for fourth place at 146 were Julius Boros, 1952 Open champion and one of the first-day leaders and two Oklahomans, former Amateur champion Charlie Coe and Labron Harris, 50-year-old Oklahoma State University coach.

Snead still had an outside chance to qualify after he shot an 80 Friday for a 155 total. But he paid off his caddy and locker room boy and didn't wait to find out.

Departing with him were such players as Gene Sarazen, twice winner of the Open, 1954 champion Ed Furgol, 1955 champion Jack Fleck and the current amateur champion, Hillman Robbins.

Braves Retain NL Edge After Jay's Shutout

By The Associated Press

Joey Jay, the youngster touted as having the stuff to be another Warren Spahn for the Milwaukee Braves, may just be starting, but he already has one of Spahnie's traits down pat. Two of his three victories in the majors are shutouts.

It was Ben Geraghty, Milwaukee's top minor league boss, who tagged the 22-year-old right-hander as a comer who could become a consistent ace, such as Spahn, who among other records leads active National League pitchers with 42 shutouts.

That's a big order for Jay, who hasn't been a ball of fire since signing for a bonus in 1953. But there wasn't much wrong with his stuff Friday night as he blanked St. Louis 2-0 in a game held to six innings.

That retained Milwaukee's 1½-game lead as second place San Francisco ended loasing slump at five with a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia. Los Angeles scored two in the ninth for a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were idled by rain.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli won his sixth with a five-hitter that gave the Giants their first complete game since beating St. Louis June 1. The Giants were held to three hits and an unearned run by loser Robin Roberts (5-7) in seven innings.

Willie Mays broke an 0-for-10 slump with a third-inning single for the Giants. He is tied for the NL bat lead at .392 with Cardinal Stan Musial, who was 0-for-2.

Dodger Clem Labine won his third in relief. Ron Kline (6-7) was the loser.

Red Sox Trail by 8 Games After Tigers Beat Yankees

By The Associated Press

Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert have been slugging the home runs, and Frank Malzone has been battling with the bat, but look who's finally started to hit for the bustling Boston Red Sox — a guy named Ted Williams.

The Big Guy, who last year won the batting crown at an unlikely 39 with an equally unlikely .388 average, has been having it tough so far. But Friday night he cracked a pair of singles, drove in two runs and scored one while reaching his percentage high — .295—of the season as the Red Sox tightened their grip on second place with a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

That left Boston eight games behind the American League leading New York Yankees, who were beaten 4-2 by the Detroit Tigers. Cleveland defeated fourth place Washington 10-1, and Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox ended a 5-5 tie at 14 innings because of a Baltimore curfew.

In defeating the Yankees, the Tigers won their third in four shots under new manager Bill Norman. It was Bobby Shantz' third consecutive defeat.

Billy Hoeft won it for a 5-5 record, but needed relief help. He retired the first six he faced, then gave up Mickey Mantle's 12th homer for a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

The White Sox, blanked on two hits for eight innings, chased Jack Harshman with seven singles and five runs for a 5-4 lead in the ninth. Then Jim Marshall, pinch-hitting for Jim Busby (whose 3-run homer junked Billy Pierce's one-hit shutout in the seventh), lined the tying home run off Bill Fischer with two out in the ninth.

Air Rifle's Pellet Strikes Girl in Eye

BUCYRUS — An 11-year old Crawford County girl was accidentally shot in the left eye with an air rifle at her home near New Washington Friday just before 8:30 p.m.

Betty Cooperider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cooperider was reported in "fairly good" condition in Bucyrus Community Hospital this morning. Extent of the injury to the eye had not been determined this morning.

The accident happened while the girl and a brother were playing in the barn. The brother was shooting at corncobs while the girl was playing in a hay loft. One of the shots glanced off a corncob and struck the girl, according to a report to hospital staffers.

Reception Set At School To Honor Pastor

A public reception, scheduled to be held from 8 to 10 p.m. today in Marion Catholic High School, will open a weekend of activities in honor of the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman's 50 years in the ministry, 30 of which have been spent as pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church here.

The reception tonight, followed by a solemn high mass at 5 p.m. Sunday, a testimonial dinner in the UAW-Union Hall on Leader St. and a reception for the clergy of the diocese in the rectory of St. Mary Church, will round out the "Father Spickerman Week" program.

Presiding at the golden sacerdotal jubilee mass Sunday, at which the Rev. Fr. Spickerman will be celebrant, will be the Most Rev. Clarence G. Issenmann, bishop of Columbus. He will be assisted by the Rev. Jerome Bartel of Cincinnati as deacon and the Rev. William Huber of Columbus, subdeacon.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William O'Donnell, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Cleveland, will deliver the sermon.

Acting as toastmaster for the dinner, slated for 7 p.m. in the Union Hall, will be the Rev. William O'Brian, head of the western deanery and pastor of Delaware's St. Mary Church. Bishop Issenmann will be guest speaker.

Anthony D'Admato has been general chairman in charge of the 50th anniversary program.

The Rev. Fr. Spickerman, born Oct. 14, 1883, was ordained a priest June 19, 1908, and has been pastor of St. Mary Church here since November of 1928.

CANDID CINEMASCOPE CAPTURES CUSTOMS of the little-known peoples of the islands of Indonesia in the Malayan Archipelago in the Italian-made film, "The Lost Continent," which will be shown on the screen of the Ohio Theater Sunday through Wednesday with "Manhunt in the Jungle."

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

—Ohio—

Two adventure films of other lands head the film fare at the Ohio Theater Sunday through Wednesday.

Shown will be "The Lost Continent," the Cannes Film Festival and Berlin Film Festival award winner; and "Manhunt in the Jungle."

The cinemascope, color production, "The Lost Continent," is a candid camera investigation into the lives and customs of the natives of the islands of Indonesia in the Malayan Archipelago, with side trips into the jungle for big game hunts.

The film is directed and produced by Italian explorer-photographer, Leonardo Bonzi.

Also filmed in color, "Manhunt in the Jungle" stars Robin Hughes as Commander George M. Dyott who searches through the Matto Grooso district of Brazil, Stanley-Livingstone fashion, for the famed Col. P. H. Fawcett who disappeared in 1925.

A Douglas Fairbanks Jr. production, "Chase a Crooked Shadow," starring Richard Todd, Anne Baxter and Herbert Lom receives top billing at the theater Thursday through Saturday.

The co-hit, "The Left Handed Gun," stars Paul Newman, with a supporting cast which includes Lita Milan, John Dehner and Hurd Hatfield.

The suspenseful mystery story "Chase a Crooked Shadow" is set against a background of a Spanish villa and has Miss Baxter as a wealthy heiress and Todd as her supposed brother.

"The Left Handed Gun" claims to be the screen's first real story of William Bonney, the strange teen-age desperado known as Billy the Kid.

—Palace—

The Palace Theater has announced that the Michael Todd spectacular, "Around the World in 80 Days" will continue to be shown at the theater for an indefinite period.

In addition, this Thursday the theater will stage the first in a series of Thursday afternoon children's matinees. The feature attraction will be Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in "Dance With Me Henry." This will be accompanied by four color cartoons and a "Three Stooges" comedy.

One evening in 1872, two travelers leave London on the boat train to Paris. They are Phileas Fogg, an English gentleman, and passepartout, his valet. To win a bet of 20,000 pounds, they are attempting to go around the world in the incredibly fast time of 80 days.

It is the story of their adventures in trying to beat the 80-day deadline and win the bet that is told in the color production "Around the World in 80 Days."

David Niven plays the punctual English gentleman, and Cantinflas his valet.

Others in the cast are Robert Newton, Shirley MacLaine, and 50 other internationally known stars in "cameo" parts.

The film won five Academy Awards: best picture, best screenplay, best color cinematography best musical score and best film editing. The cast includes 68,894 persons.

The Bud Abbott-Lou Costello comedy is a study in pandemonium, set in a kiddy-land carnival.

Seen in supporting roles will be Gigi Perreau, Rusty Hamer, Mary Wickes, Ted de Corsia, Ron Hargrave, Sherry Alberoni and Frank Wilcox.

—North Drive-In—

The Academy Award nominee, "Peyton Place" has been brought back to the Marion movie screen by the North Drive-In Theater. It will be shown as a single feature Sunday through Tuesday.

The cast of notables includes such names as Lana Turner, Hope Lange, Lee Philips, Lloyd Nolan, Diane Varsi, Arthur Kennedy, Russ Tamblyn, Terry Moore, David Nelson, Barry Coe, Betty Field and Mildred Dunnock.

Taken from the best-seller by the same title, the story concerns the manners and morals of a small New England town and how the good and the bad are affected by them.

Alfred Hitchcock, master of suspense, presents another thriller, "Vertigo," at the North Drive-In Wednesday through Saturday. It stars James Stewart and Kim Novak.

In supporting roles are Barbara Bel Geddes, Tom Helmored an Henry Jones. The story is based upon the French novel, "D'entre Les Morts" (From Amongst the Dead) by Pierre Boileau and Thomas Narcejac.

It concerns the involvement of a retired detective, played by Stewart, in the affairs of an old schoolmate, portrayed by Helmore. The latter talks Stewart into shadowing his beautiful, but neurotic wife, Miss Novak, whom he believes is contemplating suicide. Stewart's reluctance is partly based on the fact that he is afflicted with acrophobia (fear of heights).

—South Drive-In—

Rita Hayworth, Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon star in "Fire Down Below" which plays at the South Drive-In Theater Sunday through Tuesday on a double bill with "Short Cut to Hell."

Filmed in the West Indies, in cinemascope and color, it is an exotic, exciting romantic drama about a woman from nowhere who is going no place, without a passport, without money, without hope.

"Short Cut to Hell" is the stark story of a paid killer and a girl who tries to change him.

Directed by James Cagney, the film introduces new stars, Robert Ivers and Georgann Johnson. Others in the cast are William Bishop, Jacques Aubuchon, Peter Baldwin and Yvette Vickers.

The sensational stage production and movie version of "Mr. Roberts" is being brought back to the screen by the South Drive-In Wednesday through Saturday.

The color, cinemascope story of a ship and her captain stars James Cagney, Henry Fonda and Jack Lemmon.

The co-hit, also in cinemascope, is "Battle Cry" with Tab Hunter and Mona Freeman.

RUSS TAMBLYN AND DIANE VARSI are two of the top stars seen in "Peyton Place" which is scheduled for the North Drive-In Theater Sunday through Tuesday. Lana Turner, Lee Philips and Lloyd Nolan also star.

BY BICYCLE, BOAT, BALLOON, David Niven, as Phileas Fogg, rushes "Around the World in 80 Days" at the Palace Theater nightly next week, as the Mike Todd spectacular continues into its second week's run at the local movie house.

Repair of Tile Walls Should Not Be Put Off

Routine Maintenance With Patching Plaster Cuts Down Expenses

While real ceramic tiled walls have been giving way to tiled wallboard, there are thousands of bathrooms and kitchens in which the real tile is still in use, and often in need of repair.

When the joint between the tiles has fallen out it should be replaced as soon as possible. It spoils the appearance of a wall and means that the balance of the joint will soon follow.

A pointing-trowel is the proper tool to use on this work. The new material can be bought by the package, usually under the name of patching plaster, although some caulking compounds also are satisfactory.

The first step is to scratch out all loose joint material and dust out the crevice. Next, wet the crevice thoroughly if you are using patching plaster, but not if you are using compound. The new mix should be poked in to make a full joint and struck off neatly with the trowel. After this has set hard, any excess should be wiped off at once with a wet cloth.

Some workmen prefer plaster of Paris for this work, but it sets up so hard and so rapidly that it is not recommended for the average person.

When a tile has come off completely it can usually be replaced with ease by coating the back of it with any of the good cements now available and pressing it back in place. The repointing of the joints can follow as instructed above.

Real tile-work is expensive to replace. At current prices, it would cost you $200 or more for a small bathroom, so it should be treated and maintained accordingly.

Oil Can Ruin Wax

A tip to housewives: when you're dusting around the house, don't use coarse open-mesh material, synthetic fabrics or new cloth which may be sized or linty. And never use an oiled or chemically treated cloth on wax-polished surfaces because oil softens wax and makes it smeary and sticky.

Also, never let a cloth saturated with furniture polish lie on a polished wood surface. The liquid solvents or cleaners in the polish may damage the finish.

Railways in India consume about one-third of the coal produced in that country. Many of the Indian rail lines are now being electrified.

First Aid for Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: What can be done to window blinds that won't stay down? We tried tightening the movable end of roll, but it just springs back.

A: Usually there are printed instruction sheets attached to the wooden roller of the shade, explaining what to do. Remove the shade. from window fixtures and unroll it to the desired position; then rehang and roll up. You may have tightened the inside spring too much.

Q: We rent an apartment in a brick house. The window sills are concrete and look very grimy and dirty. Is there any way we can clean them ourselves?

A: If the dirt is an accumulation of dust and soot, you should be able to remove it by first wetting down the concrete with clear water, then scrubbing with hot water and a mechanics' hand soap containing fine sand. Rinse with water. Do not flood the sills, for otherwise the brick under them might become permanently streaked.

Q: My copper window screens have become tarnished. How can the tarnish be removed?

A: Wash the screens with household vinegar in which as much salt as possible has been dissolved. Then rinse thoroughly with clear water. There are several excellent tarnish - removing liquids available now at hardware stores which work effortlessly and almost immediately. Protect mesh with screen enamel or spar varnish, thinned equally with a half-and-half mixture of linseed oil and turpentine.

Q: Food coloring from colored ice cubes was spilled on our brown rayon viscose tweed rug. I am leery about trying anything on it. It has already set in the rug, leaving a yellow cast on the spot. What do you suggest to remove this discoloration?

A: I'm afraid the fibers have been permanently affected by dye in the food coloring. If just the edge edges of the fibers have been discolored, you might try snipping these off with a manicure scissors. I recommend professional attention.

Q: Can leather, leatherette and plastics be painted? Can plastic adhesive tape be used to repair small holes or tears and not show too much after refinishing.

A: Before any kind of surface is painted, all traces of grease and grime must be removed; any gloss must be dulled. Leather can be painted with any top quality enamel, just as it comes from the can without thinning. A latex base paint can be used on many plastics. To repair small holes or tears, apply the tape to the wrong side of the material, bring the edges of the damaged area together, so that the material lies smooth when repaired. Do a repair job before painting.

Q: We want to replace the linoleum in our kitchen. How can we remove the present linoleum? A felt paper was cemented down first, then the linoleum.

A: It should not be difficult to remove the linoleum, Pry it up with a wide-blade knife, then pull up as much of it as possible. Usually, it separates at the felt. To remove the felt that sticks to the floor, wet it down with hot water. After a few minutes, the paste will soften and both felt and paste can be removed. Another method is to scrape off as much of the felt as possible; then clean the floor with a floor-sanding machine.

Q. Where can I get information on how to lay floor tiles in nine-inch squares in several different colors? Our kitchen floor is solid oak and has been varnished several times without removing the old varnish. Do we have to remove the old varnish or can the tile be laid on top?

A: The tile dealer from whom you purchase the tile has instruction sheets, printed by the manufacturer, for installing the tile. Suggested color schemes and patterns also are available. Be sure to use the adhesive recommended by the manufacturer for his product. All varnish, paint, grease or grime must be removed before putting down the tile.

Q: Previous tenants of our home had children who put clay on a bedroom wall from time to time, leaving a greasy-looking mark. The wall is of dry wall construction. We want to remove the stain before repainting the room.

A: Try cleaning area with wallpaper cleaner. This is a doughlike material that is rolled and kneaded over the wall surface. If this does not remove stain, cover the spot with a thick layer of paste made of fuller's earth or powdered chalk and a noninflammable spot-removing liquid. Allow to remain until dry, then brush off. If neither of these methods is successful, coat the area with a thin layer of shellac before painting (there's a chance this may not be entirely successful, but it's worth trying).

Q: I would like to build a cement block wall from my garage to kitchen door. Do I need a permit? How far from the sidewalk must I stay?

A: Get in touch with your city buildings department for information about construction permits, restrictions, etc.

Q: We had a wooden floor laid on our side porch. It has been painted several times, but the paint always blisters. How can this be prevented?

A: Blistering is usually caused by moisture accumulating under the paint film. This will happen if the paint is applied when the wood is wet; also, if there is an insufficient amount of ventilation on the underside of the porch floor. In addition to providing sufficient ventilation, cover the ground with a vaporproof paper or strips of polyethylene plastic, overlapping about six inches and sealing. All the present paint should be removed down to the bare wood. Allow plenty of time for the wood to dry out thoroughly before repainting. Painting the underside of porch floor with aluminum paint will act as a vapor barrier against ground dampness.

Marble Can Be Stained

Marble is not as rough as many persons think. Oils, citrus fruit acids, alcohol and tobacco, all of which will stain wood, also will stain marble. On the market is a creamy wax which cleans, polishes and protects marble.

Using Aluminum Paint

Tips on Home Repairs

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . know that aluminum paint gives the surface of the material to which it is applied a good barrier against moisture and fumes because its tiny flakes form a continuous layer of metal.

DO . . . select from one of three basic types of aluminum paint for metal and masonry; for the exterior of a wooden structure; and for either wood or metal indoor surfaces.

DO . . . when aluminum paint is used as a primer on wood, brush it on rather than spray it for best results.

DO . . . if a brush is used only for aluminum paint, clean it with an ordinary paint thinner, such as turpentine, but when it is to be used later for some other kind of paint, use a brush cleaner of the powder type.

—:—

DON'T . . . apply aluminum paint over whitewash, because it does not adhere well to it.

DON'T . . . overlook the use of aluminum paint for brightening up a dark closet, stairway, etc., because it has extremely good light reflecting qualities.

DON'T . . . think that because aluminum paint covers rust well that it should be used over it without first applying a coat of red lead or some other rust-inhibitive product.

DON'T . . . forget that the United States Bureau of Standards has reported that a radiator finished with metallic paint (such as aluminum) cuts down the amount of heat given off.

Keeps Kitchen Cooler

The emphasis on ventilation in modern kitchen design represents a major contribution to better home planning, builders declare. In more and more houses efficient ventilation is being achieved by installation of hoods and fans mounted in wood wall cabinets over cooking surfaces. By venting cooking odors, heat and air-borne grease to the outside, the units keep kitchens cleaner and more pleasant.

Women To Share Ideas At Washington Meeting

WASHINGTON — The National Association of Home Builders today announced it will sponsor a "Women's Conference on Housing" to be held here October 14-16.

Approximately 100 women delegates will be chosen to make the trip to Washington through contests staged by local affiliated associations of NAHB throughout the country.

The delegates will exchange ideas on the social, technical, economic and physical problems of housing with nationally-known housing authorities. The Conference is expected to provide the home building industry with valuable marketing data on what American women want in new homes—and why.

Louvers Help Lick Problem Of Ventilation

Many houses which have been built during the last decade have brought complaints by the owners, a number of them concerning the attic.

A badly ventilated attic causes excess humidity in the house, excessive heat in the summer and, generally, an uncomfortable atmosphere.

It is not much of a job to install adequate louvers or ventilators in the gables of a house. These are readily available in almost any lumber yard and can be found in several different designs. One at each end of an attic will make a world of difference in the comfort of any home. In order to conserve heat during the winter months, a plywood batten can be made which will fit over the louvers.

In selecting louvers the owner of a house must make sure that they are screened to prevent wasps, bees, hornets, squirrels or other small insects and animals from entering through them.

Great care must be exercised in installing the louvers. While most of them have flanges which make the attachment to the house easy, the joint around the unit must be well caulked to prevent rain from penetrating.

The Weeder's Guide

Mulching Is No Secret, It's a Gardening 'Must'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. — The famous old gardener, the one whose perennial beds and mass plantings of annuals were the collective dream of the local garden club had died. He had told his heirs that he had put down his precious secret in manuscript form, and that it would be revealed only upon his demise.

When other gardens were drooping from lack of water, Uncle Henry's was rich and green. His vegetables were always bigger and tasted better. His flowers were larger, smelled nicer, their colors more vibrant. When other gardeners were hoeing and slaving, Uncle Henry sat in the shade of the great mulberry tree, watching birds and reading Thoreau.

What was Uncle Henry's secret? The heirs were sure the world would pay a lot of money to share it. Finally, from Uncle Henry's safe deposit box an envelope marked "Garden Secret" was produced. The heirs held their breath as the envelope was opened. A single slip of paper was removed. It contained but a single word: MULCH.

THE HEIRS HAD a right to be disappointed—mulching isn't that much of a secret any more. It is, however, a wonderful aid and worksaver.

There are many different materials which can and are used as mulches which are one or another of the materials spread on the soil around growing plants to keep down weeds, hold moisture in the soil and sometimes to add to the fertility or to improve the condition of the earth.

Peat moss, buckwheat hulls, tobacco stems, saw dust, leaves, grass clippings—all these are widely used as mulches, first spread upon the ground and later dug into the soil to decay and improve it. Salt hay and straw are often used too, but not to be dug into the soil later.

Recently manufacturers have been putting out polyethylene plastic in long black strips which has met with great success. It covers the ground and plants are put through slits in the strips. The opaque plastic excludes sunshine from the soil and prohibits weeds, and the cover conserves moisture.

PERSONALLY, I enjoy a garden that looks like a garden, and will remain faithful to older, less drastic mulches. One favorite is peat moss, which is effective when spread upon the soil to a depth of two or three inches, and is a handsome brown color which makes a garden look neat and tidy.

Usually the peat—which is slightly acid—may later be dug into the soil, where it improves the water holding capacities of sandy soils and breaks up clay soil into smaller particles.

Buckwheat hulls disintegrate into fertilizer well, but they are very light, and unless wet have a tendency to blow around. Most leaves make a good protective blanket, but are inclined to mat and smother. But grass clippings are ideal from both the standpoint of lightness and their way of breaking down into organic material: always save them, either for mulch or to add to the compost pile.

A good program of mulching helps take much of the backache out of gardening, saves on the water bill and frequently makes for a better looking garden. It may not be such a secret as to make a million for an heir but it is a garden must for everyone.

Girl Gives Details Leading to Plane Theft, Fatal Crash

PETERBOROUGH, England (AP)—A U.S. airman stole a jet bomber and crashed to his death after drinking five pints of beer and being jilted by a 16-year-old English girl, the girl said.

After plump, red-haired Yvonne Talbot told of breaking an engagement with A.2.C. Vernon (Chuck) Morgan shortly before he died early Friday, the U.S. Air Force said its records showed Morgan already married.

The 21-year-old aviation mechanic has a wife and 1½-year-old son in Elizabeth, Ind., U.S.A.F. headquarters in London said.

Morgan stole an obsolete B45 Tornado light bomber from Alconbury Air Base. Although he had never flown before, he took off and flew several miles before crashing.

Knotty Pine Is Flexible As Interior Decoration

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Knotty pine paneling is a flexible decorative product, It has many faces and finishes. It can be modern or traditional, and it can run the gamut of colors.

A number of new finishes and effects now make it suitable for many types of interior decoration in nearly all rooms of a house.

Two factors are important for best results. The desired effect should be considered beforehand, and the features of the room in which paneling is to be installed should be studied.

Experiment with colors on a piece of waste wood before starting a paneling job. Each piece of paneling should be colored prior to its installation on the wall. This eliminates streaks left by running paint and avoids raw corners or edges where brushes will not reach after the paneling is in place.

ALSO STORE the wood on the site for about 10 days, separating each board with sticks, to allow air to circulate freely around each piece of paneling. This permits the lumber to adjust to the atmospheric conditions of the room.

Important to the final finish is sanding. Each piece should be sanded carefully to remove all superficial marks, dirt and rough spots before color is applied.

Care in finishing at each step will pay dividends in the beauty and durability of the job.

If a room does not have good natural illumination, lighter woods should be used. For well lighted rooms darker woods may be used. Lighter woods in the western pine group include ponderosa pine, Idaho white pine and sugar pine. Other light woods include white fir, lodgepole pine and Englemann spruce. Rich, darker effects can be achieved with inland red cedar, incense cedar or larch.

EXPERIMENTING with waste wood, allow the stain or paint to dry. Then look at it in the light it will receive when the paneling is in place. Keep one thing in mind—when the room is paneled, the finish will appear slightly darker.

The paint or stain to be used should be brushed liberally right onto the wood, using long strokes with the grain. Then, with a soft cloth, wipe it off. The length of time the pigment remains on the wood before wiping will determine the depth of color.

To enrich the effect of knots, some expert wood finishers prefer to buff the knots lightly with steel wool after wiping off the paint or stain.

Another trick used by experts is to dust powdered color over the natural tiny pockets found around knots. Gold or aluminum dust will highlight the varied shapes of knots. Bright reds and blues, dusted in deftly but lightly, also will accent knots. Actual dabs of paint also may be applied but they should be wiped off quickly.

USE OF MORE than one color permits alternate methods of application. Harmonious colors may be applied in alternate vertical strokes, wiping down the grain while it is still wet. The wipe-down action blends the edges of the colors, resulting in ripples of alternating colors in a pleasant gradation.

Two colors, one on top of another, also may be used. For a driftwood finish, each piece is coated first with a dull green stain which is wiped off evenaly at once. After it has dried, the paneling is painted with a neutral gray, and the gray is wiped off more thoroughly at the edges than in the center.

An uneven gradation is achieved. The green shows through more at the edges than in the center. Because the grain is visible, the paneling has the appearance of mossy driftwood.

Other color recipes include mixing equal parts of chrome green and chrome yellow in oil with a mineral spirits thinner. Brush the mixture on the wood, then wipe it off. After the desired color is obtained, let the paneling dry thoroughly. Then finish it as desired, with clear varnish, shellac, lacquer or wax.

Adds Life to Furniture

Furniture manufacturers say life can be added to your furniture by occasionally oiling its moving metal parts, such as rocker springs, reclining chair mechanisms and casters or glides. A coating of light machine oil on bearings, hinges and joints and other spots where metal touches metal will eliminate annoying squeaking when the furniture is in use.

a tribute to the Fathers of all Marion Star Newspaperboys!

You know there is no pride as great as the pride a Father takes in his son. On this Father's Day 1958, we would like to add our word of congratulations on the fine progress your son is making toward responsible manhood.

In taking on the duties of newspaper route work, he has shown himself to be an ambitious lad, eager to tackle his own problems and build for himself a successful future. We have worked with him on his route and found him prompt in deliveries, alert in increasing his number of subscribers and thrifty in saving a portion of his route profits.

We know his splendid home training and your own fatherly interest in his progress are largely responsible for what he is today.

It is YOU, therefore, whom we congratulate and to whom we say, "Your son is a fine boy, headed for a bright future."

Sincerely yours,
THE MARION STAR
